Guest Lectures-cum-Seminars on “BSE-IPF Investors Awareness Program” were conducted on October 11-12 and 16, 2017 for M.Com, BBM and B.Com students. The Resource Person was Ms. Marina Jose who happens to be a BSE Certified Trainer.

Ms. Marina Jose started her session by emphasizing the need for savings and investments. She threw light on the various investment avenues open for retail investors and profiled the risk and return generated by each of these investment avenues. She gave brief idea about the Futures and Options (F&O) segment and the Cash segment in the stock market and the daily turnover recorded in these two segments. The sessions included Trading Operations with special reference to Demat Account and its operations as well as the guidelines to be followed while investing in stock market. Practical examples were taken and the sessions were fully interactive; each program used to be of two-hour duration. The resource person, Ms. Marina Jose also gave insights on the trading done in the various stocks listed in the sectoral indices and the returns generated by them.

Students were extremely happy and excited. The resource person was very open for discussion. They shared their various academic issues and discussed about their future ventures also. The Programs were truly productive in nature and student-participants had gone into the intricacies of investments. We always give thrust on these kinds of practical exposure of the students facilitating their learning the nitty gritty of theory what they read in the text books.
